

PINS GO DOWN

The Palma Team, of Jersey City, Bowl in Splendid Form in the Herald Tourney.

MANHATTAN MEN DO WELL

Brooklyn's Crack Bowlers, the Monroes, Roll in Hard Luck and Lose Both Games.

Manhattan, 798; Monroe, 733.

Palma, 818; Monroe, 806. Palma, 787; Manhattan, 737.

Three crack clubs, from the metropolitan district, met on the pins reel and stager on the bowling alley last evening. New York, Brooklyn and New Jersey all put their best foot forward, each intent upon dashing away in the lead in the long race for the handsome prize that the Herald has offered.

and when the scores had finished their work at midnight Jersey City was far in front. Brooklyn wasn't in it from the start. The bowlers from the City of Churches played a masterful game, but victory failed to perch upon their standard.

New York administered the first defeat, and Jersey City speedily followed with another. Dame Fortune turned her back on Brooklyn. The bowlers from the City of Churches played a masterful game, but victory failed to perch upon their standard.

Hundreds of enthusiasts crowded the Academy alleys, at Nos. 116 and 118 East Fourteenth street, when the teams of the Manhattan Athletic Club, of New York, and the Monroe Bowling Club, of Brooklyn, faced each other for the opening contest of the evening.

Warren Sage, of the "cherry diamond" team, was the first man to grasp the wooden sphere and face the opposing pins.

"Whizz!" went the ball. Down went the pins. But not all of them. Two remained standing, and a second ball was required to topple them over.

How the Brooklynites cheered and congratulated one another!

"We're on easy street now," they said, and in the glory of their first success they became careless and before they knew it their advantage was gone and the Manhattan had hurried to the front.

MacLellan did yeoman's duty for his side. He "broke" in the opening frame, but thereafter did not fail to score a "strike" or "spare." At the end he had the top score of the game, with 177 pins to his credit.

How was that for high? It helped and encouraged the others, too. Led on by MacLellan they all buckled bravely to their work and scattered the pins with unerring precision.

Of the Monroe, MacLellan showed himself the champion, although his bowling at times was ragged and uneven. A success in the alley with a single ball and started his team off in the lead.

opponents a lively tussle before the long tounry is over.

LIZETTE, 60 TO 1 FIRST HOME

And Glitter, 15 to 1, Makes Light Hearted All Who Backed Him in the Fifth Event.

OULD the seekers after long shots only gazed upon their arrival at Guttenburg yesterday that the chestnut filly Lizette in the second race of five furlongs was soon to give them an opportunity for which they had long been praying they would have been almost beside themselves.

But such chances to make a small fortune out of a trifling sum of money as Lizette proved to be are very much like angels' visits, and there is nothing to indicate to the public when they will occur.

It was a race for sprinters and light footed. Lizette was a big favorite and Lizette in two or three of the books, but 60 to 1 was about the ruling price, and with those tremendous odds she went to the post. Lizette won easily and her favorite could do no better than fifth. Oh, me! Oh, my!

The Herald Handicap for three-year-olds, six and a half furlongs, fourth on the programme, resulted in a victory for the favorite, Woodcutter, by Forester-Glendall, owned by old man Batchelor.

There were nine in it. Woodcutter carried the top weight, 120 pounds. He was ridden by Fred Tavel, and he better and possibly more appreciative finisher will be seen this year on any track. It was a masterly bit of riding and the jockey did much to land the event for his mount. Rumpus, owned by "The Bill" Daly, finished second, and there was 12 to 1 in his favor.

In the fifth race Glitter II, an outsider, won in great style. He was 15 to 1 at the post in the majority of the books, the favorite being Bookmaker, and the latter could not do better than fifth.

The opening race went to "Snapper" Garrison's Chitwood, ridden by J. J. Moran, at 15 to 1. He was ridden by J. J. Moran, at 15 to 1. He was ridden by J. J. Moran, at 15 to 1.

CHURCH LADIES SAVED HER

Her Companions, However, Are Still in the Southern City Without Means to Return, and Agent Elbogen, Who Sent Them, May Be Prosecuted.

For several weeks the police have been on the outlook for some dozen or fifteen young girls, between the ages of sixteen and eighteen, who left their homes in New York about the middle of January last and until within the last three days had not been heard from.

Inspector Byrnes had the complaints of the missing girls' parents carefully investigated, but beyond the vague suspicion that the girls had been lured South to sing and dance in more or less immoral variety dives no clue to their whereabouts was discovered.

Early yesterday morning, however, Mr. John C. Reckweg, a carpenter, of No. 148 West Tenth street, called at Police Headquarters with his blue-eyed daughter Jennie asked to see the inspector.

Reckweg charged Augustus Elbogen, a dramatic agent, of No. 34 East Fourth street, with having enticed his daughter into the hands of a man who had lured her to New Orleans in "first lady's party," while in reality he shipped her and her twelve associates to Schoenhausen & Plant, the proprietors of a disreputable resort in Royal street, New Orleans.

Inspector Byrnes turned the case over to Detective Costello, and accompanied by the detective and his daughter, Mr. Reckweg called at the Jefferson Market Police Court in the afternoon and applied for a warrant of arrest against the dramatic agent Elbogen.

After hearing the story of the girl, said he could not issue a warrant because the offense, if any, had been committed outside the State of New York. He also held that as Jennie Reckweg had returned to her father's home in New York, the girls would have to circulate in the "wine room" between the acts of the variety performance.

IT WAS A FEINT—NOT FAINT.

LUDDLOW STREET TURNS OUT AN FORCE IN BE AMUSCHEFFSKY VS. OPPENHEIM.

All the Montagues and Capulets of Luddlow street were there. The dingy and sunless room of Part I. of the City Court was jammed full of them.

Babel did not surpass their confusion of tongues and the jangling of their harsh dialects, full of consonants. At the ear of his defenceless neighbor each man screamed his loudest, waved his hand and shrugged his shoulders in spasms of eloquence.

Amuscheffsky was suing Oppenheim for $2,000 damages. He, the milkman, and she, the buyer of milk, had had words. Then he had beaten her, she said, and she had beaten him.

THE GLOUCESTER WINNERS

GLOUCESTER, N. J., Feb. 17, 1891.—The winners of the day's races were as follows: First Race—Four and a half furlongs. America won, ridden by J. J. Moran, at 15 to 1.

GRANT FAVORS STADLER'S BILL

TAMMANY OFFICIALS DO NOT LIKE ASSEMBLYMAN CONNELLY'S OPPOSITION TO IT. The statement that the city authorities were opposed to the passage of the Stadler Wine bill and that this fact explained Assemblyman Connelly's opposition to the measure is not true.

YACHTING NEWS

The new forty-six foot class, second which most of the racing interest will be concentrated this coming season, is progressing well at Boston. Four new craft designed by Mr. Burgess are on the stocks at New York.

GOLDSCHMIDT'S SLAYER ARRAIGNED.

Coroner Hanly yesterday began an inquest in the case of Morris Goldschmidt, who was shot and killed several days since in the care of Charles Koenigsberger by William Langeheine, a waiter, at the command of his employer, as has been told in the Herald.

MURDERER LOVITZ ON TRIAL.

Charles Lovitz, a young cigarmaker, who, on December 22 last, at No. 37 Division street, deliberately shot and killed his twenty-year-old wife Martha, at the home of her parents, was placed on trial for murder in the first degree yesterday before Judge Brady and a jury in the Court of Oyer and Terminer.

SIMMONS AGAIN ON TRIAL.

James A. Simmons' trial on a charge of wrecking the Sixth National Bank was again begun before Judge Benedict in the United States Circuit Court yesterday.

ASSOCIATION MEN MEET IN GOTHAM

It was a lively time for baseball men in Gotham last night. Along in the afternoon it was noticed about that the Association would hold a secret meeting here instead of in Philadelphia, as announced from that city yesterday.

"NERO" JOHNSON HOLDS THE KEY.

The American Association men, if they secure Johnson's Cincinnati club, will break the national agreement, but if the League seems more acceptable to the big magnate the Association men will probably subside and accept the situation as inevitable.

CHICAGO'S BILLIARD TOURNAMENT.

CHICAGO, Ill., Feb. 17, 1891.—The afternoon game in the short-stop billiard tournament to-day was between Hatley and Shaw, the former being the winner by a score of 400 to 254.
